DEATH ON THE LOUISVILLE MAIL BOAT. - A man named Elias Canningham took deck-passage on the Jacob Strader, on her last upward trip, and died on his way to Cincinnati, before any one was aware he was ill. It appears he had been dissipating for several days previous to his leaving, and this irregularity was probably the cause of his demise. Coroner Curey, on the arrival of the steamer at Cincinnati, held an inquest upon the body, and the jury returned a verdict of death from some unknown disease. He gained no credit hy his crusade against Nazareth last year, and he will fare no better in his present stage are keeping up very good houses, and are attack on St. Mary's. Our toasis, with which the editor finds such fault, speak for themselves. They were given by hoys from nearly every Southern State, and each boy expressed his individual sentiment. The Disaster on the Great Western Railway It is our painful duty to record one of the most It is our painful duty to record one of the most borrible railroad accidents that has taken place for some time. The express leaving Windsor for Suspension Bridge, on Friday evening at a quarter past seven, was freighted with a large cargo of human beings, and all were resting, as they supposed, in the most perfect security, when suddenly, and without a moment's warning, the train, when it was about a mile east of Flomboro' Station, was precipitated down an embankment of ahout fifty leet, literally smashing the engine, haggage, one second and two first class cars to atoms. The scene exhibited where the train descended was terrible. The furnous equinoctial storm was raging in all its violence, and the snow was falling in perfect masses.

The line was washed away, the chasm being as long as three or four passenger cars. Into this gully the locomotive rushed headlong, completely burying itself in the soil. Next came the haggage car, then the second cluss car, and the first class are the second cluss car, and the first class the second cluss car, and the first class the second cluss car height the only passenger cars. passenger cars; the sleeping car being the only one which remained upou the track, and this had a corner carried away by the car which had preeeded it. The grouns of the wounded and the ying, the hissing steam from the engine, the fury f the storm, and the other surroundings, conspired to make the catastrophe even more horri-ble than that at Desjardin's bridge. As soon as the accident occurred, the uninjured, so soon as they were able to collect their scattered senses, set themselves at work to succor the wounded and the dying. Assistance was sent for to Hamilton which soon arrived, when the following were found to have been instantly killed: George Morzan, the engineer of the train, Hamilton, C.W.; Alexander Braid, of Hamilton; William Milne, prakeman, and Jones Boyer, a German, from

Ohio.

The following is a list of the wounded: Wm. W. Smith, Kalamazoo, Mich., head and hand hruised; injuries not serious. He is under the care of Dr. Rosebrugb, at Hamilton. Henry Post, Buffalo, N. Y., leg hroken below tbe knee, doing well under Dr. Rosebrugh's ightly cut. The shock to all of the passengers, except those in the sleeping car, was very severe. It was in this car that Mr. Braid was sitting, chatting to Mr. Wilson and another person by the slove, when bolts and timbers from the passenger car immediately preceding it, entered and killed Mr. Braid instantly, and wounded Mr. Wilson. The point where the accident accurred was described to us where the accident occurred was described by au eye-witness, as follows: The grade from Lyuden to Hamilton is a very heavy one, on which the rails are laid from the lands near Lake Ontario to the high land. The track runs around the side of a mountain or bluff, which has been cut away for the purpose, and then continues for several hundred feet between Flamboro and Dondas, over an embankment from fifty to seventy-five feet in height. This embankment is raised from a low plain, which was formerly crossed by the rail heing laid on the trestle work, the open space being utterward filled by earth. The earth, by the heavy rain and storm, was washed and blown away, so that when the train was crossing, it had just lost its power to sustain the weight, and down the train trestle work and all went.

No hlame can be laid to the managers of the road, but the accident was caused by the storm, which was of unprecedented severity. About over in perfect safety, and the trackmen had ex-amined it the evening previous and found it all right. It is thought that one of the causes of the slide, was a large quantity of water which was dammed up between the lrack and the mountain. arrived by the train, that they had seen the bodies of eleven persons who had lost their lives by the unfortunate affair. This had apparently been put into the bale in a wet state, and it was full of sand and dirt, so that when lifted up the tangled lumps were nearly as heavy as lumps of clay. In all the hales the contrast between the white spe-cimens in the sample, and the dirty, tangled, black refuse with n, was astonishing. Some of the fraud-ulectly packed cotton was from Lardis, and other places in Mississippi, and some from places in Fennessee; a portion had reached the city by the Ohio Railroad A number of gentlemen who were in Mr. Bayliss' office while we were there, were discussing the propriety of drawing up a card containing the names of the planters at whose card containing the names of the planters at whose gin-houses this cotton, and that of others, who have in a similar way, defrauded other merchants in this city, signing it with their names and publishing it. We are requested to call a meeting of the Demceratic party at Jeffersontown, for Saturday, the 20th of March, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the District Convention hereafter to be held, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the Seventh Congressional District in the next Congress of the United States. It is highly important that all portions of the county should be fully represented at the meeting on the

The editor of the Jonrnal attempted vesterday to shield his brethren from four charges of extravagance, etc., which we made against them in their miserable government of Louisville. As a matter of course his attempt was a failure, for we made no charges, and intend to make none, that K. N. figures do not sustain. We have a good many more charges to make against the editor's brother Know Nothings, and if he will follow us through the catalogue and attempt to answer all, we will have him as deep in the mnd before we are done as his brethren are in the mire. The editor pretends not to understand our charge that since the Know Nothings have had control of Louisville, they have collected and spent $3,000,-000 of the people's money. He does not want to understand the charge, and hence refers it to the ussue of houds by the city, with which he knows t has no connection whatever. The items which make up the $3,000,000, are the annual expenditures of the Know Nothings, for the years ending March 10th, 1855,-'56,-'57,-'58, and '59, which are as follows (with the assumption on our part that the last year equals the preceding in expendi tures): 1855 $655,000; 1856, $506,000; 1857, $560, 000; 1959, $646,000; and 1959, $646,000, making a total of about three million dollars. If the bond s enumerated by the editor were added (some of which were issued before Know Nothingism was heard of) the total expenditures would be over $6,000,000, during the five years reign of the Know Nothings in this city, or over $1,200,000 per year. But the expenditures of this wasteful and extravagant party are enough, in all conscience, without adding to their squanderings the bonded debt of the city, upon which an annual sum of ahout $200,000, has to be paid in the shape of interest,

The item of city taxation alluded to by the edi tor, contains, as he anggests, a typographical error. The figures $700,000 and $350,000, in the latter part of our paragraph, should evidently be reversed, and the latter should be $300,000 instead of $350,000. With this correction the charge is manswerable. The Auditor's report (very bad authority, we admit, but good enough to apply to know Nothing misrule) for 1854, puts down the city tax at $187,560 88, and the total revenue of the city at $526,782 63, exclusive of $46,504 57 cash and warrants. The same authority in his revised and corrected report for 1858, puts down the city tax at $214,725 22, and the total revenue at $643. 902 73, exclusive of $110,649 55 of warrants and cash in the Treasury.

Now the valuation of property in the city last year, for city purposes, amounted to $25,000,000, and the probability is that it will overgo that valuation this year. Any one can, by a rule in simple proportion, find out that $1 05 on each one hundred dollars of this valuation, will nearly reach $300,000; and all of this money will not at Columbus, Ohio, and has not been, and we supcome from the natural increase of property in the city, for it is known to many who pay taxes here, that the Assessor has valued some property at more than it is worth—more than it can be sold for upon long credit, while a cash sale should be the maximum of valuation.

The editor is not more successful in his attempt to refute our charge that the Know Nothings have spent $12,000 for printing; $38,000 for keeping the workhouse; $60,000 for gas; $50,000 for salaries of city officers, and $130,000 for watch-

True, the public printing has not been done at the Courier office, and hence its comparative worthlessness. If what went into the Journal had appeared in the Conrier, it would have been read by three times as many subscribers, and if the city job work had been done at our office, no such mistakes would have occurred as that which required the Auditor to have his report re-printed in 1857, nor would anything have occurred to have given rise to the suspicion he has now set afloat that the public printer is accountable for the de-formity of his December abortion. As to what we said shout the expense the workhouse has been to the city under Know Nothing rule, it is more than true according to the Auditor's reports. The Auditor says that the follow. ing sums were received by the city from the workhouse for the following years: Receipts for 1855...... $270 82

		itures for the work house during
same year as follows:		ere, according to the same anthor	ity,
46	66	1855 $7,587 1856 7,834 1857 8,628 1858 11,181	79

The difference between these receipts and ex penditures for the four years named, is $38,672 81. It is fair, therefore, to infer that the difference between the receipts and expenditures for the last year, which the Auditor has not reported, will bring up this $33,672 81 to the $38,000 which we said the work house had cost the city under Know Nothing rule. If the accounts of Keeper Holmes and the Auditor do not agree, it is no fault of ours. We have garhled no record, but given the figures as we find them in the annual reports of the Auditor. Surely the Anditor whom the Know Nothings have nominated with all of these reports be fore them, is good enough authority for us to quote

There don't seem to be any disagreement between us and the editor of the Jonrnal as to expense of gas, the city officers and the police. He admits our figures, the three items amounting to $240,000, but don't like our comments. We did not expect that he would like the inferences we drew from this enormous expenditure for these three things. He will permit us, however, to be of the same opinion now, since we have seen his reply, that we entertained when our first article was written, to-wit: That much of this gas was consumed in lighting up engine-houses for Know Nothing meetings; that some of the city officials the Auditor, for instance, has not done work for the public as good as his pay, and that much of the money given to the police went to pay watch-editor, by adducing sums of money paid to Meadows, Williams & Co., without date, does not convince us that there is not wrong in the market house accounts. If the market fund for the fiscal year ending March the 10th, 1558, went to pay Meadows & Co., what went with the fund of the previous and succeeding years? We do not pretend to inderstand the market house account any more than many others of the Auditor's confused exhibits. We will, however, give a few facts and fingres on this subject from the Auditor's reports and the Treasurer's balance sheet, and then leave these gentlemen to settle the market house matter with emselves and the people.

The Auditor, in his anual reports for the fiscal rears ending March 10th, 1855, '56, '57, and '53, we have none for '59) shows that the following sums were received and expended on account of the market houses: Receipts for 1855,..... 9,865 00

During the same time he accounts for the exenditures, as follows: Expenditures for 1655,.

9,635 7 Total expenditures,.....$29,330 72

Now it is plain to any one that by substracting the expenditures above ennmerated from the receipts, that the difference is $10,301 48. The Auditor's or Treasurer's report should, therefore, show there was in the city Treasury on the 10th day of March, 1853, the sum of $10,301 48, to the credit of the markets, if a separate markethouse account is pretended to be kept. The Treasurer's balance sheet shows such an account. but if it shows the credit of $10,301 48, we have not been able to find it. On the contrary, by looking at the Treasurer's balance sheet, at the end of the report, it will be found that he puts down the sum of $153 42 to the credit of markethonses. There is quite a difference between $153 42 and $10,301 48. The difference is $10, 148 06. Will the Treasurer, the Auditor, the market-house keepers, the editor of the Journal, or any one else concered, explain this matter ?-We confess that we don't understand it to be the right sort of book-keeping, for even if the difference between the receipts and expenditures of the markets for 1858 is $53 42, as put down by the Auditor, and this sum is the proper one to be to the credit of the market-house account in the Treasurer's balance sheet, the two do not agree—the Treasurer having it $153 42, and the Anditor $53 42. But to wind up this long article, we will advise the editor of the Journal to mind whither he is going, when he undertakes to defend Know Nothing rule in this city. We shall give him several items to ponder over during the next few days, and if he can't make a better defense than the one under consideration, he had better let the matter alone. We know what we are about, and shall make no charge against our Know Nothing rulers that we have not K. N. data to sustain. When we have done with the subject it will be for the people to decide on the second of April, whether or not they can any longer submit to such uses of the public

The Paducah Herald on Guthlie. The editor of the Padncah Herald is talking, writing and acting Nobly in behalf of the Hon. James Guthrie for the Presidency in 1860. In his paper of the 17th inst., he had extracts from half a dozen letters reflecting the sentiments of Kentucky for Guthrie, besides a capital editorial, from which we make the following extracts: He dismissed some forty secret Inspectors of the Customs, with large pay, and unknown duties.

and also some thirty surplus offices of revenue He reduced unsettled accounts from $132,000.000 to $24,000,000, and collecting large balances thereon, including Draper's of $1,500,000, and Gardner's of over $100,000.

He re-established the Sub-Treasury, and introduced and established monthly accounts and settlements, in lieu of such as had before required about a year.

These and other reforms required nerve to enforce, as well as sagacity to perceive, and industry to consummate. Look at the anecdote told by Gen. Cushing, in his Faneuil Hall speech, in the summer of 1857. He said a very large claim was brought before the Cabinet and was discussed by its members, some for and some against it. Mr. Guthrie remained silent until the President directly addressed him: "Mr. Guthrie," said he, "this is a claim against your Department—let us hear your opinion of it." Mr. Guthrie immediately arose and said—"Gentlemen, that question has been decided in the Transury Good morning." And decided in the Treasury. Good morning." And taking his hat, left the room, and we did not know (added Cushing) that he would stop short of Kentucky.

1. Mr. Simeon Draper, a broker of New York, held about $1,500,000 of the public money. The collection was at once entered upou. Draper paid from time to time, and had completed the last payment only about a month, when he failed and nade au assignment.

2. The firm of Seldon, Withers & Co., of Wash-2. The nrm of Scioon, withers & Co., of Washington City, held in various ways—of the Treasury, and of dishursing and collecting officers—probably $800,000. The Treasury part having been withdrawn by Mr. Guthrie, they failed, leaving the residue to be collected from their assignes, which was done.

3. Chubh Brothers, another firm of Washington City, held monies, but not to so great an amount.

pose never will be collected.

5. In California, for the want of a place of deposit, the system could not be put in immediate force, and large sums, in the hands of disbursing officers, were on deposit with the bankers, and loaned out at two and three per cent. a month. As soon as the Branch Mint was completed, Mr. Gutbrie gave peremptory orders to these officer to make their deposits in it, and almost immedi ately afterwards there was a general failure of these hankers. Had the system not been then put in force, the Government would unquestionably have lost a million of dollars.

What, we ask, are the essential qualities required in a Chief Magistrate of this great Repub-le? Ability, integrity, firmness. If he possess these, its interests and its honor are safe. The peo ple can ask no more. James Guthrie has these qual ities in the highest degree—not hypothetically or conjecturally, but proven and established by the most ample and unquestioned record.

ARRIVAL OF THE NOVA SCOTIA

PORTLAND, Mr., March 23.—The steamship Nova Scotia, with Liverpool dates to the 9th inst., arriv-ed here this morning, bringing four days later intelligence. intelligence.

The America arrived out on the 8th inst.

The ship David Stewart had landed the Neapolitan exiles at Queens'town, they having compelled the captain to this course.

A pacific article which appeared in the Moniteur, Napoleon's organ, caused a considerable rise in the funds at London, Paris and Vienna.

Prince Napoleon has resigned the ministry of Algeria, which added to the confidence in the French Government.

Algeria, which added to the confidence in the French Government.
GREAT BRITAIN.—The ship David Stewart arrived at Queenstown on the 6th, having on board the Italian exiles. As soon as the Neapolitan war steamer left the ship, the exiles compelled the captain to steer direct for Cork. When the exiles landed at Queenstown, their enthusiasm rose to such an intensity that some of them actually kissed the soil. issed the soil.

Another account says when the ship was out-side of the Straits of Gibraltar the exiles openly side of the Straits of Gibraltar the exiles openly mutinied, demanding that the captain should steer for Ireland. He fiatly refused, when he was deprived of the command of the vessel, and the second mate appointed to command. The latter complied with instructions of the passengers. The following proceedings have taken place in Parliament since the sailing of the last steamer: Mr. Duncombe gave notice of sundry amendments to the reform bill, extending still further the elective franchise.

[1] I'Israeli, in reply to a question put by a member of the House, said the Government did not intend to grant exclusive privileges to the Atlantic or any other telegraph company, for the establishment of telegraphic communication between England and America.

Lord Noos alluded in the House of Lords to the carried of the Nacoditan aviles at Cork but did. Lord Noos alluded in the House of Lords to the arrival of the Neapolitan exiles at Cork, but did not suggest any official action in the matter. It is reported that government dispatches sent via America to the British on the Pscific, have recently frequently failed to reach their destination

The leaders of the old Whig party have held a meeting, and resolved to request Lord Russell to propose certain amendments to the Ministerial Reform bill. There was much excitement existing in regard to this bill, and meetings in opposi-tion to the Government measure were being held broughout England.

The announcement of the resignation of Prince is poleon, of the Ministry to Algeria, gave great moyancy to the funds in England as well as on the continent.

Austrian securities had an immense rebound, having advanced in Vienna, from Friday to Monday, fully 4 per cent, while exchange on Vienna had declined, in London, 7 per cent. in three days.

The Times, and other leading London journals, extend a cordial welcome to the Neapolitan exiles.

France.—Notwithstanding the marked effect on bonds produced by the pacific article in the Moniteur, the London journals sneer at it, and throw doubts on its sincerity. The journals of Vienna also criticize on it in a skeptical light. The Paris Constitutionnel re-asserts that the French troops are evacuating Rome.

M. Chasselou Zaubat succeeds Prince Napoleon

in the Ministry to Algeria.

The resignation of Prince Napoleon is regarded as a peace offering, the Prince being in favor of war. The Emperor refused to accept his resignation until it had been tendered three or four times. His retirement was caused by a difference of opinion with the greater part of the cabinet on constitutions of internal and external policy. uestions of internal and external policy.
Trade in France has become dull.

it was supposed he would never be able to rule again.

The Queen conducts State affairs, and is reported to have caused the King to sign a treaty offensive and defensive with Austria. It is reported that the Neapolitan Government offered to furnish the Pope four battalions of Swiss troops.

Spain.—Mr. Preston, the American Minister, had arived at Madrid.

The discontent of the Italians was general, causing a complete stagnation in business.

The fortification of Pavia continued with much activity. New batteries of mounted guns of the heaviest calibre were being constructed PRUSSIA.—The young prince has been christined Frederick William Vic or Albert.

Artificial Light in the World.

The Vesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation for elegance, economy, safety and simplicity, far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of coal gas; but in brilliancy and purity of light, it possesses a dacided advantage over even Louisville coal gas. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of whet; and the construction of the fixtures is as simple that it is not liable to get out of order, and a colid can manage it readily. The gas burnt in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from door while burning, a-, by a simple contrivance, the vepor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, producing perfect combustion and a most intense light.
The light has been pronounced, by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, throbeing no filekering or unsteadiness in the flame. The Vesper Gas light is portable, and can be used in town or country—in fact, wherever artificial light is required. The fixtures themselves are adapted in styles to snit all tastes, from the plain elogic light burner to the most coestly chandelier. Each chandeller is perfect in liself; there is no outlay to be made for cervice pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single light burner to the expensive chandeller, are miniature gas works in themselves. They are sold at prices which do not exceed the cost of ordinary gas fixtures of similar styles and ornamentation. A price list will be sent to any address on application.

COMMERCIAL

OFFICE LOUSIVILLE COURIER, NESDAY EVENING, March 28, 1859. We remark a great degree of activity preveiling he market among jobbing houses and dry goods deelers generally, with a considerable number of country buyers in the city. This makes the trade along Main street and the shipments by the packets quite active. In groceries the merket is rether quiet, with a large co trade is very active, with heavy receipts, and seles et feir prices, considering the condition and quelity of the tobacco on sale, the most of which is lugs, and rather badly prized. The great bulk of the sales this week heve been of tobacco from the Green river districts, the Oblo river countles, and from Kentucky river. The flour market is firm though quist, and wheat scarce at full rates. In regard to other descriptions of grain, there is a fair degree of activity prevailing at about for mer rates. The provision merket was exceedingly duil at the first of the week, but at the close holders have mewhat enhanced prices, and the market closes very duli. The following in reference to the provision trade we copy from the Cincinnati Price Current, of to-day, which we believe is correct:

The unusualiarge stocks of barrel pork, in the leading seaboard cities, on the lst of the present month seem to many unaccountable, particularly to those who operated last fall in the article, under the belief that it would be very scarce this season. In accounting for the accumulation of the stocks referred to, it is stated that the hog product has been taken forward the present season, earlier than usual, and that the great bulk of the season's cure, particularly of barrelled meat, is already gone forward. Considering this an important and interesting matter, we have carefully examined the imports and experts, during the season proper, thet is for the three months ending the 1st inst., In order to lay the facts in the cess before the trade. There is an increase in the quantity gone forward to the seaboard, as far as we have the figures, and as regerds barrel meat, bacon, and bulk meats, but a decrease in lard. It will be observed also that the failing off in the foreign abipments is nearly equal to the increase in the amount sent forward. which we believe is correct: ent forward.

Now, it is well known, thet at the beginning of the eason of 1557-5, thers was no old stock in this city, and it is equally well known, that at the commencement oblisseason there was quite a large amount of mess pork tard, and bacon—how much we cannot say with accura-cy, but we think is may safely be put down at three mil-tion pounds. If this is correct, then the difference be-tween the quantity of the hog product here, about the first of the month, this and last year, is quite small. The weather has been disagreeable this week, though losing clear and mild, with hard roins, snow, sleet, hal and frost. If the fruit is not materially damaged it will be a wonder. The river under the influence of the rainy weather hes been rising very fast, with an ample stege of water on the falls for tha largest boats to ascend. CALL attention to the notice of the Peoria Insurance Company from the Chicago Daily Press and Tribune, which notice was voluntary on the part of the editors, who know what they say to be true. Such evidencemust put to blush the petty malice aimed et the Peoria Insurance Company by some malicious sianderers of our city. The Company has a paid capital of $300,000, and a surplus of $52,000. This surely is a sufficient guaranty to all who will insure. Its business is very large and relieble. Reference to the only loss in Louviville for the last 12 months in the card of Wm. Musselman. I hereby invite those who want insurance to give me a call. The agency is now under the control of the underwriters of this city, but free and untrammelied. Risks taken on my own judgment, and if anyloss occurs, it will be paid promptly. Marine policies issued and 10 per cent. premium retained on all insurance, to be settled by note every six months.

Louisvulle, Feb. 21, 1859. TO THE PUBLIC.

OUR tobacco factory was vary near heing destroyed by fire on the night of tha Th of January, on Main, near Ninth streets. The roof being partially hurned, our boxes under press were removed in the street, end ding of the boxes. Mr. J. B. McIlvaine, the agent of the Peoria Insurence Company, came very promptly and ordered the roof to be repaired, &c. Arbitretors were mutuelly chosen, the damagee satisfactorily arranged, and he hae this day paid the damages in full, allowing cialins for isbor in protecting the house from the flames, and for removing the stock out and beek into the house. And with promptness on the part of the agent, and on the part of the company in psyling losses, I hope to see the Peoria office succeed to a good share of husiness in our city.

The Problem Marine and Pirel Press and Tribune, Feb. 12th, 1859.]

The Problem Marine and Pirel Press and Company...—It is with pride and pleasure that we ask the attention of our readers to the statement of the bound of any home company that we have ever seen, and compares most favorably with the statements of the best Eastern companies. Buch an array of assets, amounting in all to $302,556 2s, shows most conclusively that we have a company in our own State, as abound and as well maneged as any other, no metter where located. As it regardal its promptness and liberality in the settlement of its iosses, no company has a better reputation. The Peorla Company is doing business in most of the Western and Southern States, including Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Misonri and Kentucky, where it is obliged to die an annual statement of its condition and to comply with thesame laws that ere required of all Eastern companies. The fact that the company can comply with the laws of those States, which are regarded as very onerous by many companies, shows that it has thenecessary capital, and as available aseets as any other company, being subjected to the same provisions.
